Writing, Reading, & Study Skills (WRSS) Tutor

Job Description:

- Provide tutorial support services for SF State students seeking assistance with writing, reading, and study skills, including students enrolled in courses that fulfill the Graduation Writing Assessment Requirement (GWAR).
- Organize, facilitate, and track tutorial sessions with individual students.
- Develop and present interactive study skills workshops for students enrolled in GWAR and non-GWAR courses, both in the classroom and at CARP.
- Develop and implement a variety of supplemental academic support services offered by CARP.
- Develop academic handouts that focus on various elements of the writing process, grammatical concepts, study skills, and professional development.
- Present in-class information sessions that inform students about CARP’s services, basic policies, and how they can receive tutoring.
- Participate in CARP’s GWAR Writing Fellowship Program, which places WRSS Tutors in a GWAR Course for the entirety of a semester. GWAR writing fellows responsibilities include, but are not limited to: taking notes on class materials, participating in discussions pertaining to the writing process, facilitating group breakout sessions when they pertain to the writing process, and maintaining a written log of the assignments and lectures focused on writing so that other WRSS tutors may remain informed on the class’ progress should students from the GWAR Fellowship seek tutoring at CARP.
- Participate in on-going training and interactive analysis of college composition pedagogy.
- Starting pay rate is $15.25/hour.

Qualifications:

All applicants must:

- Be an SF State undergraduate student enrolled in at least 6 units who has taken and passed a GWAR course with a grade of B or better, or be an SF State graduate student enrolled in at least 4 units.
- Must be able to contribute to the WRSS Unit’s development and presentation of workshops, information sessions, and other supplemental academic support services, as requested by WRSS Unit Coordinators, and CARP’s Senior and Associate Program Coordinators.
- Be patient and have a strong desire to help students achieve their goals.
• Possess the ability to work with students in a one-on-one setting, as well as the ability to speak in front of groups and present academic workshops.
• Demonstrate a strong understanding of the writing process and familiarity with the stylistic conventions of various academic disciplines.
• Possess strong time management and stress management skills, including the ability to balance the demands of your employment as well as your academic pursuits.
• The ability to keep accurate session records which concisely convey information, as well as precise details such as time and course numbers.
• Understand the importance of confidentiality regarding the students who seek academic support at CARP.
• Have and maintain a minimum all university GPA of 3.0 and a 3.0 in the major discipline.

Direct experience providing academic support services for first generation students, and students from multicultural and low income communities is preferred. Experience working in an office environment is also beneficial.
